First-year
Communities

DURING YOUR FIRST YEAR,

Connect

with your classmates by living with others who share your interests. Create meaningful bonds and friendships with fellow first-year students.

Get to Know

a member of the faculty. You'll take a one-unit course in the fall semester.

Explore the City

during a shared Fall Break experience.

Single-Gender Communities

LOCATED IN DENNIS HALL – RICHMOND COLLEGE
LOCATED IN MOORE HALL – WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

Moore International: Women, Virtue and Temptation in Literature

WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

Women of virtue and of vice - two classical representations in literary text. But how do social and historical contexts influence moral and ethical norms? Join us to study the archetypal female character and other "objects of study."

Ready for Moore: Leadership and the Social Sciences

WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

What drives cooperation? How does power impact people? How do expectations and stereotypes affect how we perceive leaders? Explore all this and more as you advance your understanding of leadership by learning about human behavior.

Co-Ed Communities

LOCATED IN WOOD HALL

American City, American Culture

City living. How "American" is it? This community will explore how ideas, designs and policies about cities define the world in which we live and how American culture has represented urban life.

Civic Journalism and Social Justice

Journalists don't just report the news - they often have a responsibility to tell stories that inspire social change. Join this community to learn the basics of how to research and write news articles and then go on assignment to cover events.

Women in Math and Science: Bioethics

WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

Stem cell therapy. Human cloning. Genetic testing. Organs for sale. Physician-assisted suicide. Learn to approach problems in bioethics from a variety of perspectives as we study human biology, scientific technology and the consequences for humanity.

Explore UR World: Across the Continents

RICHMOND COLLEGE

Sample the cuisine of Korea, enjoy films from India, learn about Ethiopian history and explore the culture of South Africa without ever leaving Richmond. Explore different cultures and develop a wider world view as part of this globe-trotting community.

Spinning Your Web: Games, Game Theory and Leadership

RICHMOND COLLEGE

How does the board game Monopoly bring to light issues of economics and class inequalities? This community will explore leadership by using board games, psychology games, video games and game theory to discuss the relevance of game theories to societies, history and geopolitics.

Live from Russia: Introduction to Russian Language and Culture

Russian: the language of a culture that is obsessed with beauty and power. One of the five official U.N. languages. This language-learning experience will turn you into a global professional with a deeper understanding of yourself and the rest of the world.

Narratives of Identity and Relationship

"Who am I, and why am I like this?" Explore these two questions in depth as we examine how we come to understand ourselves in and through what we hear from others, whether we know it or not.

Wrongful Convictions in Modern America

Race, poverty, faith in science and reason, notions around punishment and redemption and the allocation of scarce resources — all issues dynamically tied to the study of wrongful convictions. Join us as we view wrongful convictions through a lens by which to examine society.
